Thread: Pheromone concentrations

sooner1991 - December 22, 2014, 7:49 pm

I am mulling over my product options from different pheromone companies and have a question that you vets can answer.

It seems that the pheromoneXS line of products have a higher concentration of mones in each 10 ml bottle and it actually dwarfs the concentrations in products from other companies.

For example:

Ascend: 42.8 mg per 10 ml

Alpha Masc. - 29 mg per 30 ml bottle ~ 10 mg per 10 ml

Primitive - 13.33mcg per drop~45 drop per ml~ 6mg per 10 ml

Alpha Treasure - Pheromone treasures - 14 mg per 10 ml

The question is does having higher concentrations definitely mean better range, better duration, better effect on the targets, less number of sprays per use?

or is there a certain baseline over which more pheromones per spray has no more effect on the target? (even on this, I would just think of using less product per use from a pheroxs product)

I am just very confused about vast differences in pheromone concentrations. What am I missing here?

Background: I joined over a year ago and have been lurking/reading the threads. It seems like more information on user experiences with certain mones are in the journal threads. I understand there is a certain number of posts you are supposed to have to display that you are here to learn and stick around before gaining access but I don't want to spam the threads with useless information. What are some ways you guys got your post counts up while you were noobs?

Do some research and post on your experiences...everyone here is always looking for reports on products.

sooner1991 - December 23, 2014, 5:53 am

Yeah I plan to do that but seeing that I don't have any allegiances to the different pheromone companies, I just wanted to get some information about the concentrations to gauge how I could get the most bang for my buck.

Also being my first purchase, I am looking to get atleast one alpha product, one social and one sexual one. The three companies that I am looking at are Liquid alchemy, Pheromonexs and Alpha dream. Any suggestions on what I should get for a first order?

kimosabe - December 23, 2014, 11:15 am

Pheromone Treasures.

Seriously, we cannot answer these types of questions. You need to read up more, and then decide from there which company feels right FOR YOU to start with. There is no absolute right way of doing things. Also, you can't just look at pheromone concentrations per ml or by mcg and decide A is better than B because it is not that simple. It also involves things like choice of carriers, ratio of SDA40B:DPG of each product's carrier, etc.

Initially, I planned to re-start my phero-journey with PXS, but after reading more about Wolf and how it helps alleviate feelings of depression and the blues, I decided to start with LAL.

Then came Apex.

Then came AM from Todor.

Then came P.Tres.

Until now, I've yet to try any PXS products. Interesting how that happens eh?

I'm sitting on a lot of PXS product in FXS scent that I don't care for much maybe with a more matching cover scent I'll be able to stand the smell, the mones smell doesn't bother me at all. Any suggestions for a cover that compliments the FXS smell?

In the world of pheromones it's not about how much pheromones you have in your mix. It's about how effective your mix is.

There are 24 pheromone companies on this site so figuring out what to buy is challenging. Without guidance, you can easily spend $300-$400 dollars and not get anything that you like. A good place to start is the top 5 list (<http://pherotruth.com/Thread-Top-5-Pheromones-2014-2015>). I listed the products that I like and why. Also, there are reviews on some of the products that you listed.

To get your post count up you can ask questions...it's allowed. Just don't ask noob questions like "What should I buy to attract an Asian girl in my class?"

Reviewing products and giving your opinion on products that you've tried is a good way to get your post count up. Once you get your post count up a little you can start a journal.

Thank you for the replies. It makes a little more sense. One more question to clarify:

if two mixes had the same combination of pheromones, would one that contains more pheromones per mix have better results or after a point it doesn't matter how much you have?

Here are my thoughts on products I want to get. Any suggestion/tweaks will be helpful

LAL- Wolf, Dirty Primitive

PheroXS - Ascend, Cohesion & Evolve Pack, Xist, Androstadienone 3 or 4.5 mg/ml

Alpha dream - Alpha Maschio, Glace

Androtics - Ammo

LoveScent - New Pheromone Additive

here is my thought process:

Status - Wolf, Ascend

Social - Glace, Cohesion

Sexual - Evolve, New Pheromone Additive, Dirty Primitive (DP)

Softeners (for hard hitting sexual like New Pheromone Additive or DP) - Androstadienone

All-rounders - Ammo, Alpha Maschio

Combo Enhancer/All-Rounder: Xist

What do you guys think? Anything that should be swapped out for something that has worked better for you?

I have read a lot of good reviews for LAL, PheroXS and Alpha Dream products. So, I would like to do business with those companies for now

Also forgot to mention, Phero treasures (Thanks Kimosabe) and Apex also seem to have very good products but the companies being relatively new is holding me back. Any products from those companies that you feel strongly about are also welcome in tweaks/suggestions for products

Thanks again

In the pheromone world more is not necessarily better. Like I said before it's not how much is in a mix that counts. It's how good a mix works. You can have a mix that is packed with pheromones that works like crap. Conversely, you can have a mix with hints of various pheromones that works like a dream. It's not about how much, it's about how good. Numbers are only good for advertising purposes.

Looks like you have about 11 products here at @&#36;30 dollars each (some cost more, some less).

If I had to make any changes I would substitute Nude Alpha for Dirty Primitive. I would also drop AMMO and add Core instead.

If you have the cash I say go ahead and dive right in.

dorfmeister - December 23, 2014, 7:39 pm

I might get one good standalone product with a good track record like Wolf and try that out daily for a month or so and then at that point re-assess where things are, how effective that product has been and what you might like to add to that or try next.

I know I have had good luck with Laid Hair Paste on its own. That could be a relatively inexpensive and easy to use product to start with to see that pheromones do actually work.

sooner1991 - December 24, 2014, 6:42 am

Thanks for the suggestion dorfmeister but I have had some experiences with mones before and do believe they work. I dont mind a good amount of products with my first purchase for this reason.

I just wanted to make sure that with my first purchase I am covering all my bases when relating to having products for different types of uses in my arsenal.

Question for you guys that have used LAL and PheroXS products before.

PheroXS - How many sprays can I get out of a 10 ml bottle? If i read correctly, it should be ~300 drops per 10 ml oil product but couldn't find anything on the number of sprays. Please correct me on the # of drops if its wrong.

LAL - How many sprays in a 10 ml bottle? Also read that it should be ~500 drops per 10 ml oil product. Correct me if I am wrong.

leon333 - December 24, 2014, 7:10 am don't let the high concentrations products fool you.it's not about the appealing numbers,it's about how good is the mix.i'll give you one example.i owned a bottle called perfect match from love potion.it's a all rounder standalone ONLY contains 1mg of mones..yup you heard me 1mg and it work so nice.as a matter of fact I don't like high concentration products,because the stink is so strong even cover with cologne.i prefer low to medium,the nasty odour is more forgiving and easy to cover..and most importantly!!! they hit hard

Anybody with insights to question in the quoted post?

Also, with PheroXS products meant as a substitute for Androtics products, which product closely resembles Ammo?

The reason I am looking to get Ammo is because I have the new member &#36;25 gift I would rather use. I have had experience with their products in 2009 and I think they worked for me. With the use of the gift and 30ml bottle for around &#36;20, it seemed like a low risk purchase to see if they still work for me. If I do choose to go with a PheroXS product to replace ammo, is there a product that you guys think I could get from Androtics that does not have an effective substitute in the marketplace? Might as well use the gift card....

Thanks leon333, yeah it seems that its the synergies between different molecules in a mix is more important than strength. This takes careful tailoring of the mix with specific ratios etc.. and that being protected is how some vendors have better products than other even though all vendors have access to the main molecules.

Last Question: this was posted in the thread about cycling phero signature frequently but didn't seem to garner any reponses.

Do people see a big difference in reactions when using same genre of product? Example, swtiching between alpha type of products like A314, Ascend, Wolf etc...

Would you come off as weird if you cycle through them too frequently or not matter because they are in same genre?

Thank you guys for all the reponses!

To people you know, possibly.

To people you're just meeting, nope.

The idea is to engage subtle variations with people whom you know. For instance, Wolf and A314 are poles apart on the likeable alpha scale. As mentioned above, Wolf is a very likeable signature which engages warmly and causes respect while A314 intimidates and causes respect.

If you've been wearing A314 with a certain group of people, I'd suggest keeping A314 as your base mone for that group and tweaking it in certain ways by comboing another product to steer the overall signature as desired.

Then you would do the same for the Wolf group as well.

Subtle variations are much more easily received than a complete "paradigm shift" by those who already know your mone signatures.

Unless of course the people whom you know are already familiar with a daily change of signatures, in which case you can run with that. Take a look at Mars82's testing. His signature changes as he tests different products but even then, changes are rarely extremely drastic.

sooner1991 - January 6, 2015, 8:38 am

Thanks kimo and riverece. That makes a little more sense and it seems like the signatures wont clash too much but rather give it different angle. Hopefully I get access to the journals soon and can read more of Mars82's experiences.

A couple of question that weren't answered before and would like some help.

It would be around 80 sprays per 10 ml bottle, give or take a few. Oil is viscous compared to alcohol. You might get about the same number of drops (ie 300 drops) if you used a dropper bottle with the alcohol blend, but you have to use more drops to get the same effect as a spray has a bigger volume than a drop.

Thanks a lot Mars. that information is going to help me in the future.

I figured if I could use the alcohol blends in drop format using the dropper from PheroXS, then I might be able to dose it accurately. I have read recommendations for some products with partial spray numbers, so I could dose it more accurately by using drops.

Do you happen to know approximately how many drops of an alcohol blend is equal to one spray? I am assuming that spray volume from the different atomizers from different vendors are approximately the same. Correct me if I am wrong.

Thanks in advance

Mars82 - January 7, 2015, 6:19 am

I think I read somewhere in this forum that a spray is equivalent to around 5 drops. I'm not sure about this though as I read it a long time ago and my brain is quite foggy. Terry (I think) has a post about the inch to drop to spray conversion.

Edit: Just found it
