Thread: Erox testing for couples

I haven't been able to test out my sample yet, but I gave one to my husband & he tried to 'mone me last night. He was unsuccessful because it close to 10 pm & I was only half-way done cramming for my 8 am Psychology class. I was only exposed for 10 minutes max. & I'm extremely impressed with this. The effects were immediate, we ended up wrestling like horny teen-agers (an especially effective metaphor considering he was interrupting my studies)! Seriously, I can't wait to give this mix a proper test run, because the non-intensive flirtatious energy was still sexual in nature, but not corrupted by frumpy energy that my husband has devolved to in his 30s. I loved it & I hope my tests will be consistent in providing the same type of sexual tension. The scent is on the masculine side of a unisex citrus, a little like CK-1, so it could still work for women.

Thanks for the report! I can't wait to hear your future results!

Beccah - September 10, 2011, 5:41 pm

Tried applying some today, but so far no dice. I'm going to assume it's because he is up nights & I tried to 'mone him while he was awake @ 11 a.m. getting a drink. I can't say about self-effects, but to be fair my period is due Monday. My self effects with any blend can be wonky during this time. Except 'none heavy blends, those make me extremely aggressive .

I dipped into SO's bottle & holy smokes, Batman! He's already through half of his sample! I asked him & he says it's his favorite. I asked him what he likes about it & he reported: Quote:"I like the smell & I like the way it makes me feel"

When are you launching this, Crowdgather???? Are you accepting advance orders? I absolutely do not want him to run out of Erox!

crowdgather - September 13, 2011, 10:36 pm

I have been using it religiously every day since I received the samples. I will find a way to keep him from experiencing withdrawals if I can.

Lol.

K, so I'm attempting to upload my first ever video review, Erox is teh product I'm reviewing, to YouTube via my cellphone. I hope it uploads successfully , this is my third attempt, lol! If I can't work it out, I may have to break down & buy a regular video camera, lmao!

Anybody have suggestions for a camera that's decently priced & easy to use?

Beccah - September 20, 2011, 5:51 pm

K, I'm nervous, but here goes my vid. review:

Awesome review! I always feel like a wrestling teenager, but it might be the Erox!

That's my Toshiba, I've had it since April of 2010 & I've had zero problems with it. The Sony Vaio netbook my twelve yr.old got for Christmas has been out of commission for the last 3 months Definitely will stick with Toshiba in the future!

@Crowdgather, lmao!

Beccah, you mentioned you had received samples. Is the company still sampling this? I am very interested. A unisex blend appeals to me very much. I would love to find the BF something that works on me and vice versa.

Nevermind Sweetness, I found the proper thread.

Not sure if the company is still sending out samples, but I think they're set to launch in December.

I want to thank as33156 for PMing me & prompting me to give a better, more concise review of Erox (now that I've had awhile to test it) for the rest of the forum. So here is my (for now) final verdict on Erox:

In my opinion, Erox has an effect that I haven't experienced with anybody else's blends. I'm not discounting any other manufacturer in my massive collection. It's just I can tell that the ER303 extract adds a unique aspect, creating an elevated sexual attraction for both sexes. I say this because I've been testing with my husband & our self effects & effect on each other has been consistent. When he uses this on me, I find myself staring at him, fascinated by his attractiveness. After 7 yrs. of marriage, this is definitely a major effect for us. To sum it up, it recreates the "puppy dog" stage in love for us. The scent is a nice, but I do wish it was available unscented so that I could use it with my other perfumes & scented cops more easily. In summary, I will be investing in a full size bottle when it launches. Although, to be honest, I would probably invest in at least a couple bottles if it was available unscented though. I'm sorry if my review isn't as clinically precise as I know y'all like like reviews to be, but them's the brakes sometimes, lol.

Nice Beccah! I need some Puppy Lovin. LOL. Can't wait to try it! I am most excited that BF and I can both wear it at the same time. That fascinates me.

It's fun to wear the same scent/'mone blend. Way less obvious than matching sweaters, hehe. I should also add that I've been wearing 2 sprays & Mike uses 3-4 sprays, just all over his chest/underarms/shoulders.
