Cognatus Sapiunt - March 29, 2012, 3:15 am

As this is my first post, and in turn my first interaction with the pherotruth community, I'd like to say hello and thank you for having me in your community. Although I do not currently own any products I have used a couple products and have had some very interesting results that I'm looking forward to sharing. Having said that, I'd be happy to hear about some recommendations on products, or opinions on what would work well for me. I hope to build some great friendships and get to know the community better soon.

I suggest that you introduce yourself, telling everyone your age and what type of attraction that you are looking for. There are very many different products reviewed on this wonderful forum as very many phero vets here. Also you can read many reports, and product reviews etc, and gain some knowledge that way as well. Enjoy.

Nice, you found the most forward thinking forum on pheromones. What products have you tried? If you are looking for recommendations, there are so many brilliant people here who could offer their insight. If you let them know more about yourself (like roughly your age, what you are like, what sort of results you are looking for...), they will be able to make better recommendations.

Well, have a great night!! Oh, yeah, and that avatar is pretty sweet

Welcome to a whole new world LOL. Become a sponge, soak up the knowledge and just start experimenting on your own. Things and amounts that work for some might not work for you, but with all that there is out there, you will find many products that do work esp when you start to understand the hits and signs for sure.

Sounds like a good idea! Well first off my username is Latin for Relative mind. As I am looking for caucasian women between 20-25. I am looking for a mature woman who prizes intelligence. I did put a reply with that information that's on the second page. However I was wondering if you have had any products used on you and how they worked? It would be interesting to hear from the other side.

Now that I think about it though, I didn't post anything about my personality. Typically women either love or hate me, I have a personality that could be consider cocky and funny. Though the way I use humor it does not really go over as well if a girl is less intelligent.

One example of this happened the other day when I asked a girl where she went for spring break, she replied, "I went to lake placid." To which I said, "I hear it's pretty calm there." She answered, "I mean I guess, the lake was still frozen so we couldn't really do much on it." However she didn't pick up on the play on words. Another example is when people are talking to me, I often reference previous words, sentences, or points from their earlier dialogue. If they connect my joke with what they said earlier they laugh, otherwise it just blows right over their heads.

Sptsmed, my friends been trying to get me to come to this site for a while and the site he was using before even longer. So don't worry, I'm going to be like a ShamWOW on this forum.

I do not have any products of my own, but I have tried a couple of my friends products. I am looking forward to trying more though.

One time when I was stressed he had me try instant-something (I don't remember the name, he would though). As soon as I put it on and sat back, i felt the scent fill my nose and quickly traveled to my head and through my body. I was very surprised at how quickly I felt my nerves and stress levels ease away and was quickly taken by a very calming feeling. The feeling was such an extreme opposite from what I had previously been experiencing only moments before.

I will start reading through some journals my friend recommended. If you have any recommendations I'd love to hear and read through them.

Oh, hey! No, no guy has ever used pheromones around me of which I knew... My husband just naturally smells fantastic.

I've used some "men's" pheromones on occasion, and I get good action from Turn Up the Heat. That's a super sexual product that is available at Androtics. They make the "Instant" line that your friend has. Their forum is pherotalk.com , and if you go there you can get a gift code for a free sample of their products. The stuff your friend had was probably Instant Shine. Everyone on this forum abbreviates everything so you'll see it mentioned as IS.

Oh, about the Turn Up the Heat, I should mention that I works better when buffered with something else. You'll get better results if you pair it with something fun/ social/ sexy... you could pair it with IS (ex: 1 part Turn Up The Heat to 3 parts IS), but I'm sure there are way better men's products.

I love your sense of humour. I'm crazy about puns and love to make a play on words every chance I get. If the girl you are chatting with doesn't get it, that is her loss. You might be more compatible/happy hanging out with a girl who can appreciate your sharp wit.

First off. It is about time you finally got on these forums! I'm glad that you will be testing too, it ought to make going out even more interesting.

AlternativeGirl, you were right, that night I gave him some instant shine, though since finding and reading these forums I have moved away from that company on to ones I found through this site.

Yeah, I don't shop with androtics anymore either, but that is because they stopped making products for women.

I just think the 15% gift code is great for new users who don't know the value of these products yet. True Pheromones has the free gift code, too.

There are way better companies out there, for sure.

Alpha Dream makes really potent products, so I feel I get more for my money. Plus, I am crazy about free shipping.

Hmm speaking of Androtics, I need to figure out what to do with all the reward points I have accumulated.

Free shipping is wonderful! Most of my products at the moment are from LAL and AD both of them are wonderful companies run by great people! Then I have a few other things I've picked up here and there.

To me, it is all about improving upon yourself. If in the process I find something that can help out my closest friend, there is no way I would keep that to myself!

I just love Gary at Liquid Alchemy. His whole philosophy on life is something I relate to. And their shipping is practically free, too. I love doing business with good people like that.

As for your problem with accumulating all those pesky points, you could use them to pick up some products and then have some fun on this forum at the trading post. Just a fun thought. Trade them for something or you could sell them there. Or give them to your friend.

I think I have a 3/4 to half full bottle of the entire mens consumer line except for ij and then I used up my ig and then a number of p's and mx's. I might see if people are interested in any of them on the trading post. Would be nice to put some money towards a new product to play with. (plus the citrus scent does kind of bother me now that I have been trying some fairly high end colognes)

I can not speak highly enough of Gary! In every interaction I have had with him his responses have been fast and through. He has come across as a nothing but a wonderful person. I actually placed a second order before the first one arrived just based on what a wonderful experience I had had through emailing him. Of course his shipping is really fast as well, even to the other side of the country!

CanadianGuy45 - March 31, 2012, 11:46 pm

I agree with the comments regarding Garry. He provides extremely thorough email support/guidance. At one point he was even talking me out of purchasing certain products. He wishes his customers to have the most appropriate product yet not spend excessive cash on different products from him that he does not deem appropriate.

1. "Instant Shine?" The "instant" line are all androtics. The scent was a type of neroli that doesn't seem to be publicly available. They're one of the larger players. Most people here are former customers of theirs, put off by either the price or the fact that they'd change their mixes without telling people and generally weren't open about their mixes with their community. They also had a recent, large, price hike. If the product was "Instant Shine" that's suspected to be some kind of androstadienol.

2. If you want to attract intelligent women, you'll certainly do well with the socials. alpha-androsterone is good for increasing the 'volume' of conversation. beta-androsterone is supposed to be good for increasing its 'depth.' AndrostAnol is supposed to be good for creating interest, particularly visually but it may work in other ways. I think Chris of Alpha-Dream is likely to have a new form of androstanol out in a month or two.

3. I'd make sure to use some kind of androstadienol or androstadienone to decrease physical distance.

4. There are a few "alpha" mones that people usually use. You may not need them for your purposes, and will probably do better with smaller doses. They need to be buffered or they'll kill the conversation or drive people away in fear. ;-) They also tend to need a cover scent.

AndrostAnone is a friendly type of muscularity.

Androsterone is a sort of 'high status' vibe which encourages jealousy.

I think you'll do well with just one or two micrograms of those.

Most of the pickup-artists love some small quantity of androstenone, but that may be more intimidating and sexually aggressive than you want early in a relationship. Be careful with it because it's probably the easiest mone to overdose on.

Other people will have their opinions on particular products, but I think it makes the most sense to come to understand this topic in terms of the relevant molecules.

I wore Instant Gentleman for a little while back in 2009 when I got promoted to a new position and wanted to see if it would get people to take me more seriously. It kinda worked, but all of a sudden I had a these women talking to me. It was crazy to see how well that stuff worked. I kinda liked people not just thinking of me as this cute, blonde girl.

If you trade those spare bottles to people who are going to enjoy using them, and you get something you will enjoy using, it is totally a win-win situation. For me pheromones are about making people happy.

Gary is all about making the world a more enjoyable place. Chris from Alpha Dream is the same way. Companies with that sort of objective will always have success, repeat customers and a more fulfilling existence.

I am not at all surprised! That is just wonderful. And, he doesn't charge a lot for his products which is another testimony that he doesn't wish you to spend excessive amounts in order to have an enjoyable experience. Between good customer service and quality products, I feel like I get way more than my money's worth.
